Hi All,

I'm too angry to write anything in detail on the story on the link below.

It drives an even greater wedge between some so-called conservationists and people who care about individual creatures and not just species and numbers. It also reinforces my believe that Scottish Natural Heritage, the Royal Zoological Society of Scotland and Scottish Environment Minister Aileen McLeod are all simply not fit for purpose. Indeed I would go so far as to say that Aileen McLeod has been sharing her bed with Oliver Mellors and his chums for far too long.

More from me later. Meanwhile my congratulations to Wildcat Haven and The Ecologist for exposing this scandal.

Cheers, John
